Here's the guide to how to use the color wheels with the levels (or luminance) control: Start by selecting a color in the hue boxes. Next, you'll place the red and green LEDs over the color boxes so that their orientation matches with the hue you are selecting. Depending on the shift you select, the balance of the colors can shift lightness or darkness when you are on an orange or a blue hue. This can be fun if you wanted to light up a text or edit a particular skin tone but if you're using the hue control and don't like how the swap ends up, you can always disable it or create your own color swap. While the hue control is great when doing quick edits to colors or simply need some balance, you could also test out the color wheels if you're looking for a more detailed look. e3d0a04c9c
